lovely staff

My father who had complex medical needs had to be taken into respite at a moments notice due to my mother having a heart attack. Thelwall grange accepted him immediatly and gave him the care he needed. The staff were very pleasant and caring. At this home you have the choice wheither to stay quietly in your own room or mix with the other residents in the lovely homely lounge, which really did'nt have the 'stark' appearance a lot of care homes have.

The home has been taken over by new management and staff , who are obviously making a lot of execellent changes. Whilst i was there one of the staff brought in their dog and the puppies to the delight of the residents and the look of delight on the residents faces was a joy to see! The decor is nice and residents can personalise their own rooms, which are spacious, as it was an old manor house at one time with large gardens. I did notice it was clean and fresh smelling and didnt have that 'carehome' smell that a lot have.
